TERMS AND CONDITIONS GOVERNING APPLICATION FOR ELECTRONIC STATEMENTS VIA E-MAIL

The Customer consents to the application, via the e-mail address(es) specified in this Application, for electronic statements.

Accounts listed in the Account Opening Forms and approved by the Bank shall receive the electronic statements via the e-mail address(es) specified in this Application. If the Customer has any concern/complaint in respect of the electronic statements, the same can be made within 30 banking days, failing which, all electronic statements and transactions reported therein shall be considered as correct and no complaint shall be entertained by the Bank in this regard.

The Customer is responsible for immediately notifying the Bank of any change in the e-mail address(es) authorized to receive the electronic statement or other relevant information. Customers that fail to receive the electronic statement due to changes in their e-mail address(es), unavailability of server, inefficiency or breakdown in telecommunications facilities or any cause other than the fault or gross negligence of the Bank, shall remain liable for any and all charges and/or penalties that may have been incurred or fallen due.

The Customer shall be solely responsible for the security and confidentiality of the electronic statements provided through e-mail. The Bank is not liable for the actions of the person(s) that have access to the e-mail address/es, or passwords of the Customer. In case of non-receipt, the Customer shall be responsible for informing the Bank immediately. Failure to receive the electronic statements will not excuse the Customer from liability for any and all charges and /or penalties incurred as result of improper or delayed acceptance.

The Bank may only disclose details of the Customer's account(s) to third parties pursuant to applicable laws and regulations or with the consent of the Customer.

Save as expressly provided herein, all other terms and conditions governing the operation of the Customer's account/(s) with the Bank shall continue to apply.

It is understood that each of the Customer's Authorized Signatories is empowered to register with the Bank one or more e-mail addresses other than his or her own.
